BRILLIANT PEOPLE

Santa Fe Reading Room System Announces Glee Clubs From Leland Stanford and Chicago Universities in Joint Concert.

"Until now I have always believed that the best grip cure was quinine and a hot bath," said Judge Craig in police court today, "but since hearing the facts here set forth, I have come to the conclusion that frequently absolute solitude and a chance to concentrate the mind, is just as effective in bad cases."

His remarks were directed towards Jose Decero, who, according to half a dozen of the Newsboys' Union had the grip and had it bad. In fact, his grip was so terrible, they told the court, that he almost eluded a member of their organization to death. Decero, who is with a show company and the boys upset his tent. The boy said—but anyhow Judge Craig administered the new grip cure of ten days soliloquy. Decero took the cure.

Judge Craig, according to the officers also went on a riot last night that made the recent French disturbances in the wine growing districts look like an expected attack on James Cagno told the judge he did not have the grip and was released on payment of the consultation fee of $10.

CLERKS TO PLAY APPRENTICES

The Santa Fe Clerks will meet the first Apprentice first team at Barrels Sunday morning, April 23. The apprentices will play their regular lineups as follows:

Battery—Hartline and Chavez, Behn, ss; Tresello, 1st b.; Howland, 2nd b.; Gonzales, 2d b.; Salazar, rf; Gutierrez, cf; Rudolph, lf.

The clerks have an all-star aggregation and will lineup as follows:

Pitchers, Davidson and Campbell; catchers, Graham and Colgan.

Clerk Chas. Spahr will hold down first base, while C. H. Cleary will play directly behind Mr. Spahr in order that he may intercept any highballs that may be too high for Chas.

Guy Thomas will play shortstop on the right side of the pitcher, while P. Beyer will hold a similar position on the pitcher's left hand.

Woods will hold down second base, while A. K. Schum will play the important position midway of first and second.

E. White thinks he can amply cover third, but in case he should find a grompler too far on, R. Coombs will be there, playing behind the shortstop.

The field will be amply manned by J. Wagner, E. Bradford, D. Cookson, E. Ehewold, F. Stack and S. Anderson.

The boys are all good ball players, but are a little short of wind, and for this emergency, Mr. Peterson of the store department has been engaged as base runner, and will run for all batters who succeed in making a bunt or getting a pass.

Behind the bat, German is the best receiver, but is a little weak on the pen, and Mr. Colgan will be on hand to cover this deficiency. Should an Apprentice attempt to singling second, Mr. German will pass the ball back to Mr. Colgan, and Mr. Colgan will transfer the ball to second baseman with speed and accuracy.

This will be an exciting game, no doubt. The Apprentices are in fine form after their brush with the Belen Browns last Sunday, and the clerks are always ready.

A good crowd is expected to attend, as it will be in the healthy open air and no charge for admission will be made.

Umpires: Bradley and Harmon.
